TO: Honorable John C. Doerfler, Williamson County

RE: Telecommunicator Week

The week of April 12-18, 1998 is Public Safety Telecommunicator's Week in Texas and has historically been proclaimed as such by Governor George Bush. This is also a nationally recognized week to honor those professionals that are behind the scenes when our citizens call 9-1-1 in an emergency.

The Capital Area Planning Council (CAPCO) is the administrative offices for the 9-1-1 system in our ten county region. We are encouraging you to also recognize this important week by writing your own proclamation or simply by acknowledging it at your next commissioner's court. Enclosed is a copy of the press release to be sent to your local media, plus a copy of the proclamation to be signed by CAPCO.

I hope you choose to participate in this week's activities and recognize those unsung heroes who are always there on the other end of the line when a 9-1-1 call is placed. Please feel free to call me if you have any questions. You can reach me at 512-916-6090. Thanks in advance for your participation.

9-1-1 TELECOMMUNICATORS HONORED

AUSTIN - 9-1-1 Telecommunicators, the voice on the other end when someone calls 9-1-1 in an emergency, will be honored April 12-18, 1998 during Public Safety Telecommunicator's Week as it is acknowledged across the state and around the nation. Historically, Governor Bush and President Clinton have proclaimed this week as such recognizing thousands of dedicated public safety telecommunications personnel who serve the citizens of Texas and our nation each day by answering 9-1-1 calls for police, fire and emergency medical services and who are truly the backbone of the 9-1-1 system.

The Capital Area Planning Council (CAPCO) who is the administrative offices for the regional 9-1-1 system will sign a resolution recognizing this important week at the April meeting of the CAPCO Executive Committee. CAPCO will present the over 400 9-1-1 telecommunicators in it's ten-county region with a small token of appreciation during this week. Joanna Oliver, 9-1-1 Public Education and Training Manager with CAPCO said, "The 9-1-1 system here in central Texas is one of he most sophisticated systems in the nation, providing technical assistance for location information when a citizen dials 9-1-1 in an emergency situation." "But, it takes well-trained people behind the system to make it work efficiently", she continued.

There are 36 Public Safety Answering Points (PSAPs) in the ten county region which answer 9-1-1 calls for over one million people. When 9-1-1 calls are answered, the telecommunicators provide not only professional and proficient service as they send the appropriate help to the caller, but also support to the caller in a hysterical, and most times, frightening moment. From burglaries in progress and car accidents to house fires and medical emergencies, the telecommunicator is there to assist the caller.

9-1-1 Telecommunicators Honored,

Glenn Roach, Emergency Services Director with CAPCO emphasized the importance of this week by stating, "These professionals work behind the scene to make sure that help is sent to the person in need and most times their efforts go unrecognized". "Although it is the emergency service personnel - police officer, firefighter or paramedic - that the public sees at the emergency scene, the telecommunicator is the vital link between the caller and that responding agency", added Mr. Roach.

The ten counties that are served by CAPCO are Bastrop, Blanco, Burnet, Caldwell, Fayette, Hays, Lee, Llano, Travis and Williamson.

RE: D. B. Wood Road Bridge

Dear Sir:

Attached you will find a copy of the bid tabulation for the proposed D.B. Wood Road Bridge. As you recall, I bid the embankment from two different sources, The Avants and the Corps of Engineers. As you can see, after you add the $1.00 royalty to the Avant price, the Corps material is cheaper.

The price of the C202 railing was $4,731.20 more than the type that was originally specified. This rail, in my opinion, is worth the cost increase. The concrete riprap is an increase of $36,059.55. It is my opinion that you should go with the rock riprap from the Corps site.

It is my recommendation that you award the contract to Austin Bridge and Road in the amount of $457,867.90 plus Alternate No. 2 which is the embankment at $5.11/cu. yd., which could increase the cost by $50,410.15 depending on the amount of material hauled.

All of the contractors have expressed doubts that some of the material, especially the concrete beams, can be delivered on such a short schedule. If that should occur, it may be necessary to extend the construction time by two or three weeks.

If you should have any questions, please give me a call.

Respectfully,

Don H. Bizzell
Don H. Bizzell, P.E.
