May 5, 1998

Hear comments from commissioners.

Commissioner Boatright advised the county had excavated materials for various county roads on Johnny Reed's property on County Road 282 many years before Commissioner Boatright was a commissioner. He now has a 14' depth next to the road and TxDOT has given him 30 days to remedy the situation. Mr. Reed has requested the county install a guard rail.

Commissioner Boatright also requested an item for the May 12, 1998, agenda meeting for 75' set-back on each side of driveway for student drivers on Highmeadow Drive adjacent to Department of Public Safety.

Commissioner Boatright reported on the Urban Housing Finance Conference: Lubbock has implemented a program on stick-built homes and rivals which are more affordable for first time home buyers. The commissioner discussed the possibility of using this program for Williamson County first time home buyers.

Lubbock has received a national award for affordable housing in one of the programs the city implemented in which starter homes were selling for $50,000.00 to $55,000.00. Commissioner Boatright acknowledged the real estate evaluations were probably less there than here, but he is interested in attempting to implement the program in Williamson County and plans a trip to Lubbock for further information.

The commissioner also discussed the possibility of building a facility for housing those who are performing community service. This involves staff, transportation and equipment issues and Sheriff Richards has advised 8 prisoners can be supervised by a licensed peace officer....certification of which is not that difficult. The commissioner discussed the possibility of some of the county road and bridge employees becoming licensed peace officers.

Commissioner Hays discussed his attendance of the Regional Issues Conference held in San Marcos Friday, May 1, 1998.
